

HOW HIGH'S THE WATER, MAMA? Well, at the Belle Glade Marina, it's high enough to cover the parking lot, close off part of the campground and one of the boat ramps (the dock is somewhere under that water out there) and it may still be rising. An Army Corps of Engineers spokesman said that as of Monday, when this picture was taken, the level of Lake Okeechobee was 16.33 feet and while that may not be a record, it beats anything since the late '60s. The City Commission is expected to address the problem Monday night in a workshop.

March money goes to hospital

BELLE GLADE—Those blisters, sore feet and sunburns earned last April when Glades participants in the Sixth Annual Glades March of Dimes Walkathon walked from here to Pahokee and back paid off this week for Glades General Hospital.

The $2,636 check pays for three pieces of equipment already purchased by the hospital, according to Administrator Ben Clarke, which has already been put to use in the obstetrics and nursery section.

Mrs. Jean Hooton, the nurse in charge of the section, said the equipment consists of an intravenous infusion pump, and infant resuscitator and a radiant heating unit used in conjunction with the resuscitator.

Mrs. Hooton agreed with County March of Dimes Executive Director Bo Stine, who made the donation Tuesday with Glades area coordinator James Huggins, that the primary benefit of the infusion pump is its preciseness of operation.

She said the new piece of equipment is able to administer minute quantities of solution intravenously with extreme accuracy compared to the drip method it replaces. She also said it can be used in areas of the hospital other than the delivery room and nursery.

"We used it this morning," Mrs. Hooton said, "on a woman who needed 20 drops a minute. You simply can't do that with the drip method."

Stine said the infusion pump can accurately administer as few as five drops a minute.

The infant resuscitator, according to Clarke and Mrs. Hooton, is a mobile crib which is used in all deliveries. It comes equipped with oxygen, a respirator and a resuscitator.

Mrs. Hooton said the crib is heated from underneath and once the baby is delivered, it is wheeled in the crib to the hospital nursery. The radiant heating unit, she said, is a system of lamps mounted above the crib which allows the doctor and nurses to work on the baby while keeping it warm and preventing the shock which could take place from leaving the warmth of the mother's womb and entering the air conditioned environs of the hospital.

She said the system also allows the baby to ease into the environment rather than making a sudden change.

Clarke said the hospital had already purchased the equipment following talks between him and Dr. Ahmed Barhouh. "We decided we needed it, with or without this donation," but that the donation was needed. "We had to go for them," he said, because, "they were all really needed."

Clarke and Mrs. Hooton said the new equipment makes sure that when there are complications, the babies need not always be transported to West Palm Beach, "and when they do need to be transported, they're in better shape when they get there."

Noting the donation to the hospital Tuesday came as a direct result of the walkathon made by Glades residents, Stine said $12,293.37 of the $15,692.83 pledged for the walk has been collected. A total of 563 people from Belle Glade and Pahokee participated.

Local Cartoonist joins Herald

BELLE GLADE—Kenneth Brown, a 1973 graduate of Glades Central High School, has been named local editorial cartoonist for The Belle Glade Herald according to an announcement made this week by B.F. Lampton, publisher of The Herald.

The 22-year-old Brown, who makes his home at 47 Roosevelt St., said he was born in Belle Glade and has been interested in art since he was a student at Glades Central. He said he began taking art courses under Elliot Kravetz, who was then a commercial arts teacher, and has never lost his interest. His first cartoons were published in the school's newspaper, the Raider Log, and he said he wants to develop his cartoons further.

"I think it's kind of hard," Brown said of cartooning, "because you have to keep on coming up with new ideas all the time," but he said he does enjoy the work.

Besides cartooning, Brown said he has also had experience in retail advertising art and has considered doing greeting cards. "I figure all you need," he said, "are ideas and determination."

Brown's cartoons begin appearing in The Herald today, with two entries (one above and one on the editorial page). The cartoons in this week's issue both deal with local subjects; the seven-foot Nile Monitor recently killed on Brown's Farm Road and the recently revived interest in growing rice in the Glades.

While he will occasionally turn to state, national and international topics, he said he intends to stress cartoons of a local nature.

"I believe Kenneth will make a significant contribution," Lampton said, "toward making The Herald even more viable as a local newspaper than it has been. The services of an art of his caliber are a real plus and it's something few small weeklies are fortunate to possess."

Multi-million dollar gambling operation raided in the Glades

BELLE GLADE—A multi-million dollar lottery operation was broken up Tuesday night when extensive three-month joint investigation by the Belle Glade Police Department and the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office yielded eight arrests and the confiscation of almost $5,000.

An estimated 25 law enforcement officers from three agencies coordinated their efforts at 8 p.m. to make the arrests and execute search warrants in Belle Glade and Pahokee.

The arrests and searches came at the end of a full day of preparing and acquiring the warrants and was coordinated by Capt. Frank Fogleman of the Sheriff's Office and Belle Glade Police Chief D. Bill Mathis.

As of 11:30 p.m., the officers had counted a total of $4,726 and Mathis said there was still some loose currency and change to be counted. The arrests also ended in the confiscation of six vehicles, lottery paraphernalia and small amounts of narcotics paraphernalia, marijuana and cocaine.

The arrests came as a result of nine search warrants being executed on the residences and vehicles of the parties involved. Heading the three month investigation were Detective Ernie Batista of the Sheriff's Office and Detective Curtis Stambaugh of the Belle Glade Police Department.

Erasmio Valdez, 46 of 632 S.E. Ninth St. in Belle Glade, was charged with conducting a lottery, possession of lottery and possession of run down sheets. Valdez was booked in the county jail in Belle Glade on a $15,000 bond.

A second team of officers arrested four more men at Glades Plaza, according to officers, as they were making a lottery drop.

Included in that arrest were Collie Vickers, 66, of 280 S.W. 12th

Residents protest city garbage proposal

BELLE GLADE—What began Monday night as an organized protest against the mobile toter garbage system being experimented with by the city turned into an open complaint session on the City Commission and administration.

More than 20 people, most of them women representing various clubs in the city, appeared at the meeting to protest the proposed system, mostly on aesthetic grounds, and one man appeared to speak in favor of it.

The city is now in the final week of a six week pilot project in which slightly fewer than 600 city residences have been equipped with the 80-gallon plastic garbage carts which are the core of a semi-automated pickup system.

The primary objection seemed to be the recurrent theme of protest against curbside pickup.

Alene McAllister, one of the spokeswomen, said the women she represented are trying to keep the city beautiful and the green carts, "look hideous."

Nataleah Nachman read a letter on behalf of the Glades Business and Professional Womens Club saying the carts are, "unsightly, flimsy, the wheels come off, the lids don't fit tight and ... for numerous other reasons," they are unacceptable.

Mayor Tom Altman interated and reiterated the system has not been accepted, the commission hasn't decided to accept or reject the idea, the administration hasn't made a decision or recommendation but the commission does appreciate input, pro or con.

Altman said he didn't believe the decision would be made on the grounds of a savings, although there will be some, because when the savings is broken down to individual billing, it wouldn't be enough to make a difference.

He said the decision will be made on the grounds of input received but the commission wants to reserve that decision until after the pilot program is completed.

At that time, a questionnaire will be mailed to each of the households which have participated and when the questionnaires are returned, they and other

Chamber mulls fund raising possibilities

BELLE GLADE—The Chamber of Commerce board of directors formed a fundraising committee last week in an effort to overcome what is expected to be a deficit during next year's budget after hearing the city commission decided to contribute $5,000 instead of the requested $8,200.

A number of fundraising ideas were discussed but the one positive move was made when the directors decided to form the committee, with Charles Trammell as chairman and Tom Bonavia, Dale Stapp and James Gann serving as members.

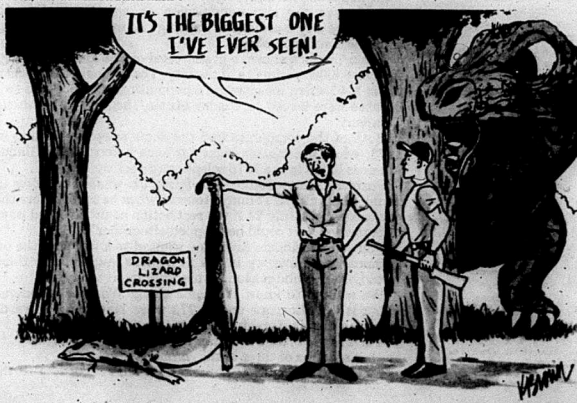

Stapp, president of the Chamber, also directed Executive Secretary Jewel Crane to check with other chambers of commerce in cities of similar size to see what kind of fundraising ideas they were using.

In other business, the chamber directors:

- Went on record opposing the grooving of the pavement of SR 80 and continue to apply pressure to have the highway fourlaned. A letter is to be sent to State Department of Transportation District Engineer William Fowler with copies going to representatives, senators, the Canal Hazards Safety Committee and other interested parties.

- Accepted, "with regrets" the resignation of Director James Gressinger, who wrote he will be out of state for at least a year to be with his son, Mark, who is recovering from a motorcycle accident.

- Agreed to appoint as Gressinger's replacement William D. Magill.

Enjoyed a movie on television the other night concerning Mexican illegals and the trials they go through in finding jobs in the United States.

Their lot is not one to be envied. But throughout the program, one thought was uppermost in my mind. That was the fact that these people can find work and are willing to do the things Americans won't.

During my lifetime, I've been a merchant seaman, an advertising salesman, a reporter, editor, darkroom operator, delivered newspapers, sold clothing and shoes, taken inventories and other various and sundry duties, some requiring a certain amount of skill and others requiring no skill at all.

One job in particular interested me. Hauling hay. Down here they don't haul hay out of the field anymore as they did during my formative years. We hauled bales for 3 cents each if the farmer supplied the truck and 5 cents each if he didn't. On an average day, each sweaty youngster would collect around $20 for ten or 12 solid hours of work.

The roundabout point I'm reaching is this. I believe fully that if a person wants to find a job bad enough, he can find one. He may have to move, he may have to take something he doesn't really want to do, but he can find a job.

This has been amply proven by the Mexicans. They come into this country, do things others won't, and manage to make a living. At the same time, those who won't work are living off the largess of the government.

Why shouldn't they? Those on the lower income scale can receive as much or almost as much from the government without working as they can by washing dishes or other tasks the Mexicans take at any opportunity.

I would make a bet that if our system of welfare was not as lax nor as attractive as it presently is, we would not have the problems of illegal immigration we presently do.

The dignity of work has faded. Today, we're out for anything we can get. And it's a shame.

Another problem related to welfare is the fact so many of us in the so-called "middle income groups" are being forced to spend more and more for less and less.

And the federal government isn't helping out. Even though they are working at giving us a "big" income tax cut.

I don't know about you, but according to my figures, if the $16 billion tax cut goes through, my share will be somewhere around $70. I'm not knocking the $70. That'll allow me to purchase another $1.35 worth of groceries every week. But as I understand it, higher Social Security taxes will eat up my $1.35 and take some more as well.

So we're back to square one.

And lots of people in this country are growing more and more upset. A recent magazine story quoted a prominent pollster as saying the majority of Americans believe great tax cuts could take place by simply cutting out government waste.

Even more believe that income taxes should be cut even if it means a lowering of government services. You'll likely agree with me that you could use a tax cut.

And if you received that cut, what would you do with it? The most likely answer is spend it. And if you spend it, wouldn't that create more jobs?

We need a tax cut in this nation. Both for us as individual citizens and to force government to become more responsive to us as the governed.

THEY MAY GET RID OF THE SMUT, BUT WE'LL NEVER GET RID OF THIS IMAGE!

We've been lucky!

Palm Beach County has been lucky. It has not been affected by any kind of tropical storm or hurricane since 1965 and over 300,000 county residents have never experienced any kind of tropical storm or hurricane. That information comes from the American Red Cross.

Due to this long period of hurricane inactivity in our area, it is most important that residents know what to do if a hurricane or tropical storm were to hit. Each year we wonder if this is going to be the year. This year could be that year.

The Palm Beach County Chapter of American Red Cross is having a traveling road show as part of Hurricane Awareness Week, August 21-27. The Glades will be included as they bring their program to the Glades Plaza in Belle Glade Thursday, August 24.

Information will be available on steps to take for protection in a hurricane, though handouts, a film and staff members. Especially if you have never been through a hurricane or need some refreshing tips, plan to attend.

One of the nation's worst hurricanes hit the county, more particularly the Glades, in 1928 killing over 2,000 residents. Since that time the Herbert Hoover Dike has been constructed along Lake Okechobee to prevent deaths from floods. Nevertheless, hurricanes are nothing to take lightly. Find out what you should do ahead of time. After all, we are in the midst of hurricane season.

Campaign tactics

Mudslinging isn't one of the more admirable sports in which one could partake. But former governor and gubernatorial candidate Claude Kirk seems to be resorting to it. If anything, this approach should decrease his eligibility as a candidate for governor of Florida.

Kirk has set about to degrade the characters of Attorney General Robert Shevin, one of his opponents, and Shevin's family. He has leveled attacks at Mrs. Shevin for "staggering" onto a stage during the Capital Press Corps skit. He has accused Shevin's daughter of highjacking an airplane. The accusations, he says, are a reflection of Shevin himself.

Whether the accusations are true or not, a political campaign should not be used for such public notice. Robert Shevin is running for governor, not his wife and not his daughter. They could have some bearing on Shevin's decisions, true, but they are not the candidate. Shevin seems to have gotten along pretty well with his family while serving as the Attorney General.

"Integrity is the issue," Kirk was quoted as saying. He should focus his attention on his own campaign, not the personal lives of his opponents. What are his objectives anyway? The campaign seems to be aimed at eliminating his competition. In the process, however, Kirk may be succeeding in eliminating himself.

Bundy and rights

Theodore Bundy, accused killer of two Florida State University coeds and a young Lakeland girl, not to mention numerous others outside the state of Florida, was tried Thursday on resisting arrest and battery charges stemming from a fight with a Tallahassee police officer.

Bundy has a $300,000 lawsuit against Leon County charging Sheriff Ken Katsaris and Leon County with violating Bundy's rights by keeping him in solitary confinement and restricting his exercise. U.S. Judge Winston Arnov in Pensacola ordered Bundy's lawsuit be heard by Tallahassee federal Judge William Stafford when he returns to the bench next month.

Bundy, a 31-year-old Colorado prison escapee, has murder charges against him. He has been indicted for the F.S.U. stangulation murders and for the Lakeland murder. But when will the trials on these cases be heard?

Leon Circuit Judge John Rudd asked that the lesser felonies be postponed for the murder charges. They weren't. Lives have been lost. Whether Bundy is guilty or not, it is important that the courts deliver a verdict. If Bundy is convicted, relief. If he is not, let's find the killer.

Bundy's own lawsuit will probably be heard before the murder cases, the way things are going. Sometimes it's hard to figure out who has more rights.

Ordinance needs changing

Action can often come in the form of inaction and that's what happened Monday night when the question once again came before the city commission on whether or not to rescind the city's ordinance limiting the number of vending machine distributors.

The ordinance allows a grand total of one distributorship for every 6,000 residents of the city. The ordinance was enacted in 1951 when the city had a population of 12,000 and two licenses were issued to Glades Music, Inc. and Lake Music Company.

Both of the companies had the same telephone listing in 1973, when the matter came up once before. Only Glades Music is listed in the 1978 telephone directory.

Former County Judge T.L. Tyson Jr. wanted to know in behalf of his client, Tommy Housch, when he came before the commissioners July 24 if the restriction could be eased now, or better yet, if it could be dropped altogether.

The commissioners said they wanted to know why the ordinance was drawn up in the first place and whether there would be any valid reason for maintaining it today.

We wanted to know the same thing. We even wondered about it when it came up in 1973 when Nathaniel Edwards wanted a distributorship license.

The answers came Monday night but not, apparently, to the satisfaction of three of the commissioners.

City Manager Robert Sanders said that according to the memory of some of the city's oldest employees, the reason the restrictive ordinance was passed in 1951 was because the city commission at that time wanted to restrict the distributorship licenses to two.

Since there was a total population of 12,000 at the time, a one to 6,000 figure filled the bill nicely.

Is there a valid reason for maintaining the ordinance?

Sanders said that according to Police Chief D. Bill Mathis, yes, an increase in the number of game machines probably would enlarge the burden of law enforcement officers but no more than the expansion of many other kinds of businesses, such as convenience stores which are prone to be robbed.

All of which should be a reason satisfactory enough to overturn the ordinance because all the evidence points to no valid reason for enacting it in the first place or maintaining it now.

The whole process of legislation is designed to hinder change and that's good. Change for the sake of change leads all too often to undesirable results.

But this ordinance is a blatantly unnecessary restriction of free enterprise and is palpably wrong, morally and economically.

The other commissioners should follow the lead set Monday night by Mayor Tom Altman, when the work shop takes place, and the ordinance should be stricken from the books.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

I never cease to be amazed at the talent we've got in Belle Glade. Some of it came out in the news last week and I guess Andy Fontaine is worth a few more words yet.

When DOT assistant maintenance engineer Jim Eldridge came out a week ago Monday, I figured that was some of the fastest reaction time seen lately around a state agency but that was just the beginning.

Jim came out after the DOT was informed of Andy and his bit of heroics the week before when he jumped off a six inch beam where he and a couple more kids, younger than he was, were fishing and the smallest fry lost his balance and fell in.

Still don't have any idea who that young fisherman was but when he lost his balance, he started a chain reaction that was unbelievable. Andy jumped in after him, dove down eight feet, grabbed hold of him and pulled him out.

The DOT maintenance office in West Palm Beach heard about the incident and Jim came out to have a look around. I figured that was going to be the end of it for about six months or so while an engineering study was done.

He did say he expected the work to be completed by the end of last week but you know how that goes.

What could I believe though was that when I was crossing the Rm Canal bridge to deliver papers Wednesday afternoon, the work had been done. I'm talking about complete fencing around the one end of the bridge. It's easy to climb up on the ladder but it's been used as a gangplank hauled off and put back on the bridge and signs everywhere saying keep off the cotton-pickin' fender, no fishing, no diving, no swimming, no wake, no picnic zone and prosecutors will be violated.

They'd even chopped down the weeds around the thing.

If we could get Andy to pull a smaller kid out of the way of an oncoming one truck or locomotive or something on SR80, we might have the old highway four-laned in no less than four or five months.

Then there's those storm drains or catch basins or whatever you want to call them. They've been pretty well demolished along Avenue E. There were six of 'em the last time I heard and you could lose a ten-wheel dumptruck in any one of 'em.

Matter of fact, one was afternoon last week I was down at Avenue E and Sixth and saw the city's streetsweeper, two labor buses and a microbus-load of Moonies fall into that one. The Union Church is still looking for those six disciples of the true faith.

I guess the problem there is that no one was around willing to jump in and pull anybody out. Where was Andy when they needed him?

Seriousness aside though, there's another little footnote to another story we ran last week...this one about Miriam Alvarez. Mrs. Alvarez, again for the record, is the daughter of the original story, is a 1973 graduate of Glades Central who returned last month as a pharmacist.

After the story came out last week, I heard Mrs. Alvarez was graduated number two in her class at the University of Florida's School of Pharmacy with a 3.89 grade point average.

That'd be enough to crow about in itself but we also heard Mrs. Alvarez was this year's winner of the Mark Award for Excellence in Pharmaceutical Chemistry...and I might add Mrs. Alvarez never said a word about either accomplishment.

Now who was that saying Glades Central graduates can't compete? But she's not by herself by any means. Right off the top of my head, I can think of one of Mrs. Alvarez's classmates, Jackie Bridges, who's editing the Everglades Observer in Palokah; Jackie's sister, Kathy, recently received a master's degree in social work from FSU and Virgil Sanchez, who graduated from GCHS in '72 and is now in the University of Florida's per-med course two years ago...with a 4.0 average.

And I haven't even mentioned my nephew, a '71 GCHS graduate who's compiled a 4.0 average in chemistry the other one, a '76 senior, as a medical technology student at a hospital in Mobile.

Success? You bet! Talent? We got it!

K-9s demonstrated at church

BELLE GLADE—Students at the Belle Glade Alliance Church Vacation Bible School wound up their one-week course with a demonstration by two members of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office K-9 Corps.

Approximately 170 children of the 200 the Rev. Mark O'Farrell said were enrolled in the Bible School were on hand Friday to meet Apache and Baron, along with their masters, Deputy Sheriffs Michael York and Michael Stuckert.

Wie Duncan, head trainer at the U.S. K-9 Training School in West Palm Beach, was in charge of the demonstration and, at several points, acted as the bad guy the dogs opposed.

Duncan explained that part of the usual demonstration had to be curtailed because the props needed to put together the obstacle course designed to teach the dogs confidence weren't available.

Other than that, the demonstration went smoothly except for a couple of times when neighborhood dogs, including one persistent black and white pet of a neighborhood child, decided they wanted to find out what was going on.

Most of the dogs were shoed away easily but the small neighbor black-and-white was so persistent he upstaged the two stars at one point when the deputies moved across the fields from Baron and Apache to demonstrate the control they held by shouting instructions.

The dog's owner finally appeared on the scene and managed to hold his pet long enough for the demonstration to be completed. One of the high points of the demonstration was when the two deputies led their charges around the crowd of children and allowed the small-fry to pet Apache and Baron.

It was shortly after the petting period that Duncan showed the youngsters, and the grownups in the audience, which consisted of teachers, other sheriff's deputies and city police officers, that the dogs trained for more than obedience and that they were more than pets.

For the last three stages of the demonstration, Duncan adopted the role of a bad guy, provoking the dogs and their masters in various ways.

The demonstration ended when Stuckert set Baron in pursuit of Duncan, who ran across the field, firing blanks from his gun back at the pursuing dog.

Just before Baron caught the fleeing trainer, Duncan whirled and defended himself with a heavily padded arm guard. Baron had nailed Duncan on the arm guard and Duncan twirled the large dog in several circles by his teeth until Stuckert could arrive and order the dog off.

York and Apache are assigned to the Glades Sub-station of the Sheriff's Office. Stuckert said he and Baron are assigned to the Central Office.

Both are veterans, although while York has had all his experience in the Glades, Stuckert said he first acquired Baron while he was an officer with the Palm Beach Police Department.

WHAT'S THIS? seems to be the pointed question of Baron and Apache as heads turn to catch the act of a neighborhood dog Program in the Glades

Hurricane awareness is set

BELLE GLADE—Hurricane Awareness Week, Aug. 21-27, will be observed throughout the county next week by the American Red Cross, which will have an information center set up at Glades Plaza Thursday, Aug. 24.

The Red Cross' "traveling road show" will appear at three locations in the county next week and will include a 15-minute video-tape on hurricanes which includes the steps that residents can take to protect themselves in the event of a hurricane.

Printed handouts with hurricane information will also be available as well as staff members who can answer any questions anyone may have.

Don Hicks, the disaster director for the local Red Cross Chapter, said the Red Cross is still looking for volunteers to act as emergency shelter managers and assistant managers and anyone wishing to volunteer can give their names during the time of the exposition here.

Hurricane Awareness Week was approved last week by the Palm Beach County Commission and Hicks cited a number of reasons for asking for the recognition, including:

- The American Red Cross is chartered by Congress to carry out relief efforts during disasters and is active in Palm Beach county towards preparing for the shelter and comfort of residents threatened by tropical storms and hurricanes;
- Palm Beach County has not been affected by any kind of tropical storm or hurricane;
- The county population is generally ly aware of the dangers of tropical storms and hurricanes and the steps that residents can take to protect themselves;

- Palm Beach County was devastated by one of the nation's worst hurricanes which happened in 1928 in which approximately 2400 residents were killed; and
- The Palm Beach County Chapter of the American Red Cross is in need of volunteers from the general public to be trained in shelter management to man the 58 hurricane shelters throughout the county.

Rainfall for year is above average

BELLE GLADE—A larger amount of rain than usual in July gave 1978 an excess of 2.11 inches of rain over the average rainfall for the past 54 years according to a release made this week by Dr. Robert Allen of the Agricultural Research and Education Center here.

Allen said a total of 8.63 inches of rain fell in July compared to a 53 year average of 8.24 inches, giving an excess for the month of 0.39 inches and a 54-year average for the month of 8.25.

The total for the year thus far is 33.93 inches of rain compared to a cumulative 53-year average of 31.82 inches.

Allen pointed out the month that really made the difference was May, which saw 11.42 inches of rain, 6.50 inches more than the average, fall. Of the first seven months of the year, there were excesses in January, May and July with deficits in the other four months.

New tractor is performance champ

FARGO, N.C. — Steiger Tractor, from Okeschoobee, Maureen • McCougar III PT-270 tractors have set four new performance records for current production, 130-plus drawbar horsepower four-wheel-drive tractors at the Nebraska Tractor Testing Station, University of Nebraska Lincoln.

"The Nebraska tests are conducted under uniform conditions on a concrete track and provide objective comparisons of tractors produced all over the world," explains local Steiger dealer Jim Headley of Lake Equipment Co. at Belle Glade.

Steiger Tractor, Inc., a leading manufacturer of high-horsepower, four-wheel-drive tractors, is headquartered in Fargo, N.D. Since 1974 Steiger's tractors have held and bettered the records in maximum drawbar horsepower, fuel efficiency, and maximum pounds of pull among current production, 130-plus drawbar horsepower four-wheel-drive tractors. They have also held the records in cab-tested speed levels since 1977 among this group.

The Nebraska tractor tests are conducted by engineers in the Department of Agricultural Engineering, University of Nebraska at Lincoln, in co-operation with Nebraska State Department of Agriculture.

Workshop is set on human relations

The Human Relations Counselors of Palm Beach County Schools are sponsoring a pre-school workshop "Humanizing Education through more effective Student Services" today from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the South Technical Education Center, Building 11.

Ralph Turlington, Commissioner of Education, will serve as the Keynote Speaker. The other guests will include James Eikeland, consultant, Florida State Department of Education; Superintendent of Schools Thomas J. Miller and Dr. Joseph A. Orr, assistant superintendent of special instruction.

The workshop will involve the Exceptional Child Education staff, Principals and other school centers and area personnel who work with teachers toward identifying and planning appropriate placements for children with special needs. It will be geared toward providing participants with more effective strategies for the delivery of student services.

TAMING THE TONGUE
Man can tame all the inferior creatures, but in all these ages have you found any man able to tame the tongue? Vast as the taming powers of man are, and have ever been proved to be, all experience shows that no man can tame this wild creature, the tongue. No man has skill or strength to tame either his neighbor's tongue or his own.

Joseph's brethren, the historian tells us, "hated him, and could not speak peaceable unto him." That "could not" may fairly stand as a representative of all cases of the tongue's untameableness.

Thus the Apostle James' teaching here, like all teaching everywhere in the Bible on man's moral condition, leads us directly to our dependence on God: "But the tongue can no man tame."

"With man this is impossible; but with God all things are possible."

Let the unconverted man, who has found resolution after resolution after resolution to bridle his tongue fail utterly, then see in the failure a "schoolmaster to bring (him) unto Christ," that in Christ he may receive strength from above. And let the Christian remember that in nursing his natural weakness of the flesh more apt to show itself than in the use of speech, and be especially earnest in laying hold, by the prayer of faith, on the strength of God for dominion over the tongue. "If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body."

The Apostle James says that "it is an unruly evil" — an unrestrainable, ungovernable instrument of wickedness, "restless," "continually changing." The tongue, says the apostle, is "a restless evil"; it flits constantly from one subject to another, from one sphere of wrongdoing to another. From slander it glides into impurity, from impurity into arrogance, from arrogance into frivolity, from frivolity into anger; so that, when a man is trying to tame it in one sphere, it suddenly escapes him and exults in its wild freedom in another.

Yet further, the tongue is "full of deadly poison." It is like a serpent highly charged with venom, and from which no one can extract the fangs. As David has it ("Evil men) have sharpened their tongues like a serpent; adders' poison is under their lips." And this poison of error, profanity, calumny, unclean language, is "deadly poison." Slowly it may be, but surely, it kills reputation, or peace, or hope for eternity. It was the poison of the serpent's words to Eve, "Ye shall not surely die," which made her and all of us die in trespasses and sins.

By Bill Anderson
Pastor, First Baptist Church

Between the description of the tongue as a restless evil, and the detailed illustrations of its inconsistencies, it seems to me probable that its restlessness, particularly in the form of inconsistency on the part of professing Christians, was prominent in his mind when he wrote them, and that thus the special idea which we are to attach to them is that the careless, wicked language often heard from the lips of those who have named the name of Christ is perhaps above all other language "full of deadly poison."

This remark brings us to the consideration of the inconsistencies of the tongue, of which James speaks in the next four verses.

Inconsistency is not by any means necessarily a bad thing. We not infrequently hear public men condemned simply on this ground, whereas the truth is that inconsistency is often most beautiful and honorable.

Not to speak of the fundamental opposition between earlier and later utterances on religious subjects — which may prove that the great vital change of thought and feelings has come between — the man who on any question of importance and difficulty does not hold, and if need be express, at 40 years of age opinions somewhat, it may be considerably, different from those he entertained at 20, can scarcely have thought much regarding them, or allowed the light of experience to illuminate his mind.

Or, to take a case more nearly analogous to that before us, often when a man's soul is deeply stirred, and conflicting emotions are struggling within him, most obvious inconsistency, even in the same conversation, is felt by candid hearers to be at the least pardonable, even in the same conversation, is felt by candid hearers to be at the least pardonable, because it is so natural.

But the inconsistency of which our apostle speaks in this paragraph — "to bless god, and with the same tongue, to curse men, which are made after the similitude of God" — this is in the highest degree sinful and injurious.

"YOU TOOK MY PICTURE... AND I WASN'T READY!"

How concerned we are with the image we present to others! And it is right that we should be. How mightily we influence others. It is so important that the self we present is one that will influence others for good.

With guidance from God we will be ready to present ourselves to the world in such a manner as to sway others toward God and all that is worthwhile and good.

"That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God." come to His Church.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Rotary loan fund raised

BELLE GLADE—The student loan program conducted by the local Rotary Club has raised the maximum amount that can be loaned to college students to help them pay expenses.

Robert Hooker and Bob White said the maximum use to be $600 but this has increased to $1,000 to more accurately reflect college expenses.

To be eligible for a Rotary loan, a student must be at least a college junior, show a need, and be recommended for the loan by a member of the Rotary. The note for the loan must be endorsed by one of his or her parents along with the recommending Rotarian.

The note is payable beginning a year after graduation and carries a five percent interest rate.

One loan has been made this year, said Hooker, and the increased maximum should attract other applications.

For further information, contact any Rotarian.

Dr. Giddens campaigns

BELLE GLADE—Dr. Ronald Giddens, candidate for the Florida House of Representatives, District 79, is now campaigning in the Glades. He intends to be in the area tomorrow and off and on throughout the campaign meeting people and talking about the issues.

Giddens was born in West Palm Beach and has had a private optometry practice in West Palm since 1971. He and his wife have one child, a daughter.

He is a graduate of the University of Florida and the Southern College of Optometry in Tennessee. At the present time, he is a member of the county Planning Commission and the Library Taxing District Advisory Board.

He said he believes in putting people first and said many political decisions are based on political expedience rather than future decisions. He wishes to bring more money for schools back to Palm Beach county and in broadening the tax base by attracting more light industry.

Dr. Giddens said he believes the elderly have been slighted and their expertise ignored and would work toward appointment of an independent commission on crime.

He said he supports affirmative action programs, human rights proposals and the Equal Rights Amendment.

Air show in Pahokee Sunday

PAHOKEE—An air show held at Tilford Flying Service between Belle Glade and Pahokee will culminate a week of action during National Aviation Week which ends Sunday, August 20. The show will begin that day at 12 noon and continue into the afternoon.

Admission to the event is free. Food and drinks will be available. A similar event held last year attracted ed a large crowd eager to view skillful pilots performing in the air. This event is being held in conjunction with the Royal Palm Festival activities.

The pilots of chapter 23, Pompano Aerobatic Club will be flying their Pitts Specials various other acts and displays will also be presented.

The Palm Beach County Commission will be holding a special proclamation making this date official, and reminding the people of our country and area how important a part aviation plays in our lives.

National Aviation Day was selected this month because it is the anniversary of the birthday of Orville Wright and honors the great aviation heritage we all enjoy.

es the local airport on behalf of Palm Beach County, and welcomes all to take part in an afternoon of flying skills and thrills.

Belle Glade man named at Tampa bank

TAMPA — In action taken by the Board of Directors of The Exchange National Bank of Tampa in the month of June, 1978, Ronald L. Jones was elected Vice President. He is in charge of the Agricultural Loan Department.

Jones, a native of Belle Glade began his agricultural credit experience with Farmers' PCA in 1965 in their Belle Glade and Vero Beach offices. In 1967, he moved to Dade City where he served as branch manager of the Dade City offices of two financial organizations. The first was the Federal Land Bank Association of Tampa, where he spent six years.

The other was the Florida Federal Savings and Loan Association, where he served for four years. His responsibilities in those organizations covered appraisals and mortgage loans, as well as branch management, in all of the Central Gulf Coast area.

Ave. in South Bay, Robert Emmitt Reese, 65, of 560 S.W. Sixth St. in Belle Glade, and H. Miller, 48, of 1225 S.W. Ave. B in Belle Glade and Ovidio Sans of 2179A Bacom Point Rd. in Pahokee. Four vehicles were confiscated in that arrest.

These four men were charged with aiding in conducting a lottery and possession of lottery tickets. Each were placed under a $5,000 bond.

A third team of officers arrested Sim Putnam, 48, of 33 Carver St. in Belle Glade at his residence, where $200 cash and lottery paraphernalia was confiscated, along with a pickup truck.

A fourth team of officers arrested Renaldo and Eba Stiebner, both 22 and both of 608 El Prado Apt. 3, at their residence. Also confiscated in that arrest were lottery paraphernalia, narcotics paraphernalia and small amounts of marijuana and cocaine. Both were booked into the county jail at Belle Glade on bonds of $5,000 each.

inputs will be compared. Commissioner Ralph Kirk suggested, and Altman agreed, it would be a good idea to hold a public hearing on the matter before any decision is made by the commissioners.

Altman said he would make sure the hearing is publicized and that the hearing will not be part of another meeting but will deal solely with the proposed system.

When Mrs. Nachman asked Altman what he personally thought of the system, Altman is the only commissioner whose home has been included in the pilot project, he said he had mixed reactions.

"Personally," he said, "I like it but I can see where there would be problems, mainly aesthetically, with the entire city."

The only party at the meeting who was definitely in favor of the system was Cal Lockwood. Lockwood said everyone on his street has talked with him on the subject like the system.

"The streets have been cleaner since the system has been in effect," he said. "They're easy to roll, my wheels haven't come off and if push come to shove, I'll buy my own cart if I can keep it and six of my neighbors on either side of me feel the same way."

Once the discussion on the garbage system was completed, a number of the people present began making complaints in other areas, including streets, which were said to not be properly kept up, streets said to not be mowed sufficiently and a mudhole in front of the Lake Shore Civic Center.

As the complaints continued, Altman said he appreciated the kind of input which was being offered. He continued to field the complaints of the other three commissioners (Commissioner William Groer was absent) said little.

At one point, he joked "I told Debbie (Mrs. Altman, who gave birth Tuesday to a baby boy) to go ahead and start her labor. I really didn't want to be here."

In other action, the commission: Agreed to increase the salary of city workers for the Sept. 15 election and future elections, to $60 per day for the clerk and deputy clerk and $40 for inspectors.

THE CENTER of action of a cricket match takes place on the concrete area that is known as the pitch. The wickets are at opposite ends of the pitch. The bowler for the Parkway club, at right, has just delivered the ball to the South Shore batsman (striker). The non-striker for South Shore is standing next to the bowler and each time the batsman and the non-striker exchange places a run is scored. The man in the long white coat is the umpire.

Cricket is alive and well and is being played in the Glades

The heat is intense and the sun is glaring, but a festive mood prevails in the atmosphere. Lively music is playing; people are eating and drinking; smiling little children are alive with energy.

It's a early Sunday afternoon and South Shore Village is practically deserted. That is except for the east end of the camp where a crowd has gathered to watch one of the world's oldest sports—cricket.

Cricket is popular throughout the world but is almost unheard of in the United States. It is ironic that America's pastime, baseball, was developed from little known cricket.

The two sports are very similar with both having the same purpose—the team which scores the most runs is the winner. Terminologies used in cricket and baseball are analogous.

There are 11 players on each team: a bowler (pitcher), wicket keeper (catcher) and nine fielders.

They play on a field that is 450 feet wide and 500 feet long. In the middle of the field is a clay or concrete area which is 22 yards long and is known as the pitch. At each end of the pitch is a wicket which consists of three short stumps with two small sticks (balls) connecting the tops of the stumps.

Two members of the offensive team stand at opposite ends of the pitch. One is the batsman or striker and the other is the non-striker. The batsman tries to hit the ball with a long flat-sided bat. After hitting the ball the batsman and the non-striker exchange places. A run is scored each time they both safely reach the wickets.

Like baseball, the opposing team tries to get the batsman and his team out. However, instead of three outs, they have to get 10 men out. There are several ways to make an out.

The most direct way has the bowler trying to knock off one of the balls. He stands behind one wicket and throws, usually on one bounce, at the opposite wicket. If the batsman misses and the ball knocks the ball off the wicket then the batsman is out. The bowler pitches six balls and then another bowler bowls at the opposite wicket and the fielders switch positions.

A batsman is also out if a fly ball is caught or if he lands in the fielder's arms before touching the ground; if the batsman touches the ball with his hands while it is still in play; if he breaks the wicket with the bat, clothing or any part of his body; if he stops the ball with his body to prevent it from hitting the wicket or if the wicket keeper tags the wicket with the baseball before the batsman touches it.

Cricket is a slowly played game and fans come prepared for a long afternoon since it usually takes several hours to record 10 outs. A major match may last from three to five days and each team may score hundreds of runs.

Each team only bats once in amateur matches. In international matches, called tests, teams bat twice.

There are many techniques involved in the skill aspects of the game. Baseball has its fastball, curveball and change-up pitches; while cricket counters with a fast, medium-paced and slow bowler. The bowlers can pitch the ball a variety of ways including the off-spinner, wrist-spinner and cutter deliveries.

Batsmen have different ways of hitting the ball. In cricket terminology they are known as strokes. There is a forward drive, leg glance, sweep shot, pull shot, hook shot, late cut and square cut. The batter's basic objective is to defend the wicket. A player's batting strategy is just as much defensive as it is offensive.

Players also keep close tabs on team and individual statistics such as runs batted in, put-outs, runs scored and strikeouts.

Cricket, which is said to be more than 600 years old, is probably the most popular sport in the Caribbean islands. The game was started in England during the 1300's and it became a major sport there in the 1700's. By the 1800's cricket had spread to Australia, India, New Zealand, South Africa and to the West Indies.

It got its introduction in South Florida as a result of the influx of West Indians who either work here seasonally or have settled permanently.

In the Glades, cricket is the top recreational activity for the off-shore sugarcane workers. In cooperation with the British West Indies Central Labor Organization, U.S. Sugar Corp. provides cricket pitches and equipment. All eight of U.S. Sugar's camps — Bryant, Pelican Lake, Runyon, Prewitt, South Shore, Miami Lakes, Ritta and Benbow — have pitches and recreational fields.

Cricket clubs have formed in the area and a nine-team league known as the South Florida Cricket Association has been created. In addition to South Shore and Runyon, there are teams from Miami, Hollywood, Pompano Beach and Fort Lauderdale playing in the league.

Each team has a home and away match with the other eight teams. The season starts in May and lasts until November. Matches are played once a week.

Earle Whyte, secretary of the South Shore club, said that with some modifications cricket could catch on in this country. He added that if it gets introduced like soccer and is started in the schools it could be popular in 10 to 15 years.

Just think, 50 years from now in August of 2028 the pennant races in the National and American Cricket Leagues could begin to heat up.

City slates recreation program

BELLE GLADE—Weightlifters, runners and football players will have a chance in the near future to test their skills as part of three city recreation department programs.

The weightlifting contest is tentatively scheduled for the third week this month, according to City Recreation Coordinator, Harold Beal, and the competition will take place as team events at Glades Correctional Institution.

Beal said all participants must be at least 18 years of age. Competition will take place in the bench press and the deadlift and weight divisions will be from 114 pounds to 242 pounds and over.

"This is not an AAU meet," he said, "therefore, if you are a member of the AAU or belong to a lifting club that belongs to the AAU you should check the AAU rules to see if this meet might disqualify you from further AAU competition."

"Due to the seriousness of injuries that can result from lifting weights improperly," he went on, "only properly trained and skilled lifters should consider entering the meet."

Beal said the Recreation Department is sponsoring a cross country race to be held Tuesday, starting at 6 p.m. The course will start at the Belle Glade Country Club and continue around Hoover Dike.

He said there will be a two, four and six mile race and cautioned that only properly conditioned runners should enter this event.

Trophies and ribbons will be given for the first, second and third place winners in each race. The deadline for registration is 5 p.m. Friday and there will be a $2 entry fee per person.

Beal said the city is also organizing a men's flag football league for men 17 years of age and over. A team may include 15 players and the team roster must be turned in with the entry fee of $45 per team before 5 p.m. Sept. 1.

Beal said the deadline for adding players to the roster will be 5 p.m. Sept. 7. Under no circumstances will a team be allowed to add players after this date. Seven players will constitute a team.

For further information on any of the events, Beal may be contacted at the city hall or by calling 996-0100.

FLORIDA GAME and Fresh Water Fish Commission Officer of the Year David Thompson of Belle Glade receives congratulations from Commission Chairman R. Bernard Parrish, Jr. at the Commission's monthly meeting, July 14 in Punta Gorda. Chairman Parrish is from Tallahassee.

CRICKET BATSMEN have to wear heavy protective leg and glove pads while batting. McDonald Pinda of South Shore shows the long flat-sided bat that is used. The wicket-keepers (catchers) also wear protective pads. Most players wear white or cream trousers and open-necked shirts.

Having won only one of eight games previously, Local 2162's batters took advantage of pitching problems and rallied for four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to edge by First Baptist Church. The winning run came in when Lisa Scott drew a walk with the bases loaded.

First Baptist had taken the lead with two runs in the first inning to Local's one. Bobbie Markham added another one in the third to make it three to one, then both teams scored another run in the fourth inning for a four to two game. Local then began edging up as two runs crossed the plate in the fifth and after a scoreless sixth inning, came the fateful seventh, when Local's four runs came in to only three for First Baptist. The loss was First Baptist's third of the season.

In the other game that evening, South Bay Growers relied on a six-run barrage in the first inning and scattered five more throughout the other innings to bomb Miami Herald, 11-6.

Miami Herald's main offense came in the first inning, with five runners crossing the plate. The girls threatened twice in the second and the fifth innings, leading the bases, but both time their hopes were shot as the batters fled out for the third out.

After adding a run in the fourth, Sherry Miller, Janet McKinley and Nelda Hall rounded the bases to make it 10-5.

Jayne Meadows scored Miami Herald's only run in the sixth, but South Bay added one last point in the bottom of the inning before holding the opposition in the seventh to end the game, 11-6.

In Tuesday's game played in Belle Glade, August 8, Wallis Pharmacy shellacked the Bank of Pahokee for 29 runs to seven for the Pahokee team.

Cindy Riddle was the heavy hitter for the Bank of Pahokee, lining a two base hit over the left fielder's head for two RBI's, and dropping a single into short-left field in her next turn at bat.

Donna Akin led the Wallis offense with two triples, while Barbara Hartzog and Sharon Clayton each knocked out doubles. The game was called after five innings because of the time limit.

The other game of the doubleheader found Community United Methodist Church (CUMC) struggling to stay atop in an 8-5 victory over Dixie Fried Chicken. Both teams opened the game with a run, then CUMC went ahead in the second inning as three runs scored, one of them a double by Dixie Clayton.

Dixie Fried added a run in the bottom of the inning to make it four to two. The girls threatened CUMC in the third by leading the bases with only one out, but a strikeout and a grounder to shortstop stopped the rally.

CUMC struck again in the top of the fourth for four runs, then Dixie Fried jumped back with three and ready to go for more before another strikeout and grounder to pitcher left all three runners stranded for the second time in the game.

The last two innings were scoreless for both teams, making the final score 8-5, in favor of CUMC.

In a make-up game postponed from July 27, South Bay Growers defeated Local 2162 11-1 in seven innings of play.

Lisa Scott scored Local's only run as the offense was held to zilch for the rest of the game, only two runners getting to second base.

South Bay's offense was as prepared as the defense, leading off with two runs, then adding five in the fifth and fourth in the seventh for a total of 11.

LETTER TO THE PEOPLE OF BELLE GLADE

I am very concerned about the 35% increase in the water and sewer rate that has been placed on the backs of the people of Belle Glade.

This large increase in water bills will not only be felt by the homeowners, but also the landlords and merchants. This will cause an increase in rent, food, clothing and any other item purchased in the city of Belle Glade.

I personally, am against the new garbage collection system being proposed. I see nothing but added expense. We will have to pay for each container, their maintenance and replacement.

I feel it's time to let the people help in spending their money, also making decisions. I propose publishing the agenda prior to each commission meeting.

The operation of city government is a business. Therefore, being a business man, I feel qualified to implement the basic principals of business — supply what the people demand.

Your Vote and Support Will Be Greatly Appreciated
